Abstract: In the report of the 19th CPC National Congress, it mentions that the building of the grassroots organizations of the party should be strengthened and the importance of improving organizational strength. In order to thoroughly study and implement the 19th CPC National Congress spirit, the mechanical engineering Institute actively explores new modes of the work of party development for students. Carrying out the education and practice of party member with the help of the party member development center is an effective exploration of studying and implementing Xi Jinping's new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics and doing a good job in student party development innovation.

Keywords: The development of party, New media

1. Introduction

Under the new situation, new requirements are put forward for students' party development work. The party member development center of the school of mechanical engineering insists on the following principles, including a core, two teams, three types of channels and four kinds of management. To be specific, the core is to take ideological construction as a core idea, strengthen rational belief education, focus on learning Xi Jinping thought on socialism with Chinese characteristics for a new era, organize a series of infectious and high-level publicity activities and cultivate a group of pilot lecturers with theoretical literacy. In addition, we should firmly grasp the two teams, in detail, do a good job in the source of the party's activities and re-education of party members, and focus on shaping a group of outstanding students and party members who have high ideological consciousness, comprehensive quality, strong work enthusiasm and excellent academic performance. Additionally, we should make use of the three types of channels, that is, make good use of party members' activity rooms, social practice and cultural activities and new network media platforms, focus on building several influential and effective revolutionary themed practice education bases to build a party-building boutique brand. Moreover, we should strengthen four kinds of management, including party members' development management, organization standard management, theoretical basic management, and education practice management. We should focus on forming a group of institutional normative documents, strengthen the normalization of theoretical study and guarantee the establishment of work and construction.

2. The Basic Situation of the Party Member Development Center

The party member development center of the Institute of mechanical engineering was established in 2015, considering student party members and student backbones of all grades as the main target of work. Based on consolidating the development of party members, we will focus on strengthening the education and management of party members and establishing a long-term mechanism for the training of party members in self-management education. The party member development center consists of 8 student party branches, including 4 undergraduate party branches, 3 graduate party branches, and 1 doctoral student branch. The center sets up the office, material department, activity department, and a new media center. They are responsible for system construction, political theory study. They are responsible for system construction, political theory study, development of party members, training related work, social practice, cultural activities, the construction of new media and mechanical student public number platform. The party member development center fully mobilized the enthusiasm of student party members, improved the informationization level of party development work and further realized the connotative development of party development work.

3. Four Principles Adhered By the Party Member Development Center and Corresponding Main Practices

3.1. Carry out a theoretical study, strengthen the ideals and beliefs

In the report of the 19th CPC National Congress, it mentions that highlighting the political functions of grassroots party organizations is necessary. The Institute adheres to the focus of ideological and political construction, does a good job in ideological and theoretical education and value leadership, and actively carries out the political theory study of Xi Jinping's new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics. The Institute of mechanical engineering conscientiously implements the spirit of the 19th CPC National Congress, thoroughly studies the standards and norms of party constitutions, regularly organizes party members to attend party classes, guides and helps party members learn, understand, and digest theoretical knowledge and related spirits in multiple ways, and connect theory with practice. Since the 19th CPC National Congress, the party member development center has established a theoretical reading class "party members talk about the 19th CPC National Congress" to organize party members regularly to carry out a political and ideological study. In addition, it has also set up the "new thought leading class" into the student dormitory to carry out the study of the spirit of the 19th CPC National Congress. The political theory of the college has been normalized and institutionalized and the political literacy of party members has been improved. Members of the theoretical reading class also regularly entered the communities of Jingwu Town to carry out Xi Jinping's new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics and the political theory of the 19th CPC National Congress and promoted the theory into the community and into the mind. Finally, the political theory of the party should be learned and understood.

3.2. Actively commending the advanced individuals and highlighting the exemplary model of the vanguard

In the report of the 19th CPC National Congress, it is mentioned that the party branch should shoulder the responsibility of directly educating party members, managing party members, supervising party members and organizing the masses, propagating the masses, serving the masses, and guiding the majority of party members to play a vanguard and exemplary role. The Party branch earnestly implemented the "three meetings and one lesson" system, regularly organized organizational life meetings, and established standardized institutional documents. In addition, the party branch should also do a good job in the democratic appraisal of party members and the deliberation of the party branch secretary, organize party activists to copy the party constitution, and study the 19th CPC National Congress without interruption. Moreover, the party activists and the construction of the party member troop should be strengthened. During this process, we must pay attention to the education of party activists and development objects, carry out the study and examination of basic theoretical knowledge of the party and Xi Jinping's new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics, conduct defense work on party activists and development objectives, and guarantee the progressiveness and purity of the source of party membership. We must do a good job in building party members, strengthen our sense of responsibility and give commendations to all branches, party members and development centers at the end of the year. Several exemplary party branches and a group of model party members have emerged. The combat effectiveness and cohesiveness of grassroots party branches have been continuously improved, and the vanguard role of party members has been prominent. In December 2017, in the exhibition "Learning the 19th CPC National Congress to build the Chinese dream" organized by the school, the first student party branch consisting of undergraduates won the first prize. The battle fort function of the branch played an outstanding role. This branch actively strived for one of the five good party branches. A large number of students and model party representatives such as Gu Han, Gao Zhaoqing, Hu Yongxiu, Gong Qinzhaohao, Wang Li, etc. have emerged, playing a prominent role in various aspects such as study, social activities, innovation and entrepreneurship, science and technology competition, and student management. Each year, the college commends and publicizes outstanding party members and party branches through commendation conferences, exhibition wall for excellent students, exhibition board of students for post-graduate recommendation and graduate school exams, interview and publicity of outstanding students' deeds, etc., which can lead the new campus fashion with advanced models.

3.3. Establish an education base to strengthen the effect of education through practice

President Xi Jinping pointed out that learning is the ladder of growth and progress, and practice is the way to improve the ability. We should persist in applying what we have learned to practice and master real talents in the school of society. The college has established a long-term mechanism jointly built with its brother colleges and enterprises, established a number of practice bases for scientific research Institutes and enterprises both inside and outside the university, and regularly conducts study and exchange to meet the practical needs of students. The college's mechatronics laboratory, mechanical basic Hui Yu laboratory, measurement, and control LabVIEW laboratory, and machine three-dimensional modeling laboratory are used as learning and practice bases to carry out various learning and practice activities to ensure learning coverage to all students' organizations. In 2017, the study of 19th CPC National Congress was carried out by our college in the School of Mechanical Engineering of North China University of Science and Technology, the Automotive Engineering Research Institute of China Automotive Technology Research Center, CITIC Heavy Industry, and the North China Robot Incubation Base. In March 2018, in the school "Happy Xiqing - Beautiful Gongda 1+1" practice education community project, our Institute and the Jingwu Town of Xiqing District jointly built the "Vibrant Jingwu, Machinery Power" and went into Jingwu Town to carry out various activities. For example, robots were displayed for primary and secondary school students, scientific and cultural knowledge was popularized, scientific and technological innovation awareness was cultivated. Additionally, the Zhou Deng Memorial Hall was established, the memorial hall of the former residence of Huo Yuanjia in Jingwu Town and other revolutionary practice bases were established. Furthermore, we carried out a series of activities with the theme of carrying forward the spirit of "patriotic struggle" and went to the Langya Mountain, the Pingjin Battle Memorial Hall, and the Zhou Deng Memorial Hall to commemorate the revolutionary martyrs and inherit the red culture. The college also strengthened cultural construction. At the welcome party in 2017, the party member representatives recited "I am Chinese" and received unanimous praise.

3.4. Grasp the propaganda position and build a featured brand of party development

Comrade Xi Jinping emphasized at the national ideological work propaganda conference that our comrades must enhance their awareness of the position. Propaganda ideological positions, if we do not occupy, others will occupy. The Party Member Development Center actively builds a platform for publicizing Xi Jinping's thought on socialism with Chinese characteristics in the new era, making full use of the functions of the "party member activity room", "social practice and cultural activities", and "network platform" to mobilize enthusiasm and promote the daily and regular study of party members by education. The party member activity room is mainly used to carry out party affairs work, promote theoretical study, and develop party activities. Moreover, the dormitory set in activity room is convenient for party members to learn and act in life. Party member activity room covers the organization life of student party members from the content and covers the main activity area of students from the scope. The influence of social practice and cultural activities is not only to promote participation but also to create an atmosphere and lead the ideological trend, which has a profound and lasting influence on party members. We also give full play to the role of the practice position of the party member education management development center and the practice carrier of the mechanical students, integrating into the ideological and penetrating values. In the Internet age, the party development work of the students must firmly grasp the ideology and occupy the active position. The party member development center of the School of mechanical engineering has carried out the propaganda of Xi Jinping thought on socialism with Chinese characteristics for a new era through various websites, WeChat and Weibo, which greatly improves the timeliness of party development.

With the help of WeChat platform of the mechanical student of Tiangong University, the special edition of the 19th CPC National Congress was launched. "Good voice is inspiring" to study the second volume of "Xi Jinping's talks about governing the country", "Party members speak the 19th CPC National Congress" theoretical reading class, "the 19th CPC National Congress in the eyes of outstanding young teachers", "Take you into the role of party members", experience exchange conference of postgraduate recommendation in mechanical engineering, study and implement the knowledge competition of the 19th CPC National Congress, "Mechanical student interview program", "Party members pay a visit to school dormitory, grasp both life and minds", "The harder you work, the luckier you are" an excellent interview with outstanding graduates, "The new era in my eyes, the exhibition of achievements in the 19th CPC National Congress", "Listening to the teachers' interpretation of the 19th CPC National Congress, we should not forget our original intention and go with the party", "The exhibition of outstanding party members of student party branch", "Elegant demeanor exhibition of outstanding party members of the party branch", "Welcome to the 19th CPC National Congress, say your innermost thoughts and feelings" and other series of brand programs. The public number of subscriptions reached 3,000 and created a new position for the propaganda of party development and ideological and political work on the Internet, close to the students. The effect is like a spring drizzle and moistens things to be quiet, establishing the characteristic brand of party development of mechanical engineering college.

4. Conclusion

Under the new situation, the school of mechanical engineering firmly grasps the ideological characteristics of contemporary college students and innovates new methods of party development work. Through the party member development center, the self-education and self-management of student party members will be realized. Additionally, party development, and ideological politics will be effectively combined with the college education, forming the long-term effective mechanism of party development and educating for university students.
