The ideological stability will achieve the correct ideological orientation through ideological and political education. Therefore, it is conducive to social stability to do ideological and political education to college students.

3. The Current Problems of Vocational College's Ideological and Political Education for Intern

Ideological and political work is the lifeblood of all other work, and the intern's ideological and political work is lifeline of student education, training and management. Internship is a professional training for students, and it is also an extremely important process for college students to social workers. At present, ideological and political education of China's college students i internship is facing a lot of difficulties.

After the reforms, the market economy has gradually become an important organizational form of social development. But objectively, we conducted simultaneously material civilization spiritual civilization is inadequate, and this is what today's college students' ideological root of the problem lies. In other words, this generation of young people from Notepad beginning of the market economy on the monasteries pursuit of material wealth and honor, but rarely feel the spiritual civilization of the importance of human development, creating a greater emphasis on material interests, little heavy ideological cultivation reality. This characteristic is reflected in college intern who became how they view the relationship between practice and career issues.

3.1. The Game Between Ideological and Political Education and Social Reality of College Interns

Colleges and universities to strengthen ideological and political education for students, often from students to establish a correct outlook on life, world outlook and career outlook aspects to guide, guide students to a correct understanding of the purpose of life, abandon the wrong purpose in life, and establish serving the noble purpose in life to educate students in the internship process to correctly handle the careers ideal and reality, self-worth and social values, career relationship with money. But because they have been in the university campuses, fewer social contacts, tunnel vision, lack of social practice, life was quite superficial. With the employment pressure increases, student internships in the process, they will participate in a lot Shuangxuan Hui, making sense of competition significantly enhanced, while the social reality will affect their mindset, making them more on the values of pragmatic, utilitarian, too pursuit of self-worth.

3.2. Ideological and Political Education of College Interns out of Touch, more Ideological Problems of Interns

Students in school, colleges and universities through a variety of courses and extracurricular activities to educate students, educate students through collective means of education for student's ideological and political education. After student internships, due to the wide range of internships and location, ideological and political education faced with some difficulty. Ideological and political education of interns to a "four difficult" phenomena: the difficult requirements, difficult to implement; hard boot, difficult supervision. In the interns process, because the students practice arduous task facing the new environment lack of ability to adapt certain, some students want to test in English class; some students impure motives, hope can join the party before graduation; some students are busy looking for work, and many other causes of unintentional student internships, lack of discipline.

4. Establish a Reasonable and Effective Mechanism for Interns, Ideological and Political Education

Because the student internship, internship have wide range and more locations. There are some difficulties of ideological and political education, such as: difficult requirements, difficult to implement; hard boot, difficult supervision. Although there are some objective problems, but the ideological and political work can not relax. Making full use of the spirit of reform and innovation, to ensure the vitality of ideological and political work in the reform and innovation, to stimulate their vitality and enhance its effectiveness and relevance.

As to higher university teachers, they must be clear that ideological work is by no means next term graduates working-point work, and must recognize that it is a term of graduates and non graduates passed between the linearity works. As peers, experiences and reflections from mentors are better than those from parents and teachers. Also the effect will be better. So do the ideological education of interns pass, and then driven through these higher students. For example: making some report to their juniors before graduation, or taking a variety of school activities relying on the lower grade students to carry out "apparition" type of ideological and political education, so that passed the most sincere thoughts sentiment to his mentees, causing lower grades emotional resonance to allow them time to correct their mistakes now outlook on life, values, and thus receive the desired effect of education.

4.1. Format an Efficient Management Mechanism of Intern

Due to the existence of a certain degree of difficulty in practice management mechanism, so management has become passive management, and hence the effect of management has been less than ideal. It is always a problem to deal with the problem until happened. How do preventive work, which we need for the active management of a passively managed.

The reason why there are passive situations is that we always failed to keep up with the changes of students. In fact, students in the process of the internship contact with things far beyond what we can think, thus inevitable in the management of some of the vacuum, and the vacuum generated by the emergence of the problem is the key. How can we prevent the emergence of management vacuum it? We can use modern communication technologies to solve this problem.

Before the student to the unit internships, you must first right students' carry out the necessary ideological and political education. Although they internship, but the identity is still is a student, so we must be connected with college. On the one hand, let intern know that once encounter problems, their own is not the loner, but rather able to get the school this collective effective protection, and therefore want to encourage students to with his classroom teacher, counseling the teacher, the department of chamber leadership, the college leadership of the inter-frequently to contact, in order to effectively solve the problem. Other hand, the teacher should prepare well for ideological work. Although students to the unit to go internship up, they are your own student after all. Therefore we must strengthen the link with the students between through a variety of means, ready to help intern analysis, to solve the problem, do a good guide job.

The modern means of communication would cause us seriously since we need to keep good links between students and college. We can through QQ, by the formation of the QQ group, so that where the interns and instructors, including department of chamber leaders have joined the QQ group, so that the teacher can keep communication between the intern when go to work or after work. After the internship, to be told they will own the latest phone number to the college, and the department should establish a new communication book for all the students and sent to each student's Email, told interns to maintain the smooth flow of communication. So that you can use the quick way to make the necessary counseling practice, and can be the fastest, most effective way to get the most information sources internship intern latest case, ideological trends, can be done to detect and solve problems for secure internships, internships successfully played the role of escort.

4.2. Grasping Ideological and Political Work of School-enterprise Cooperation

Internship position is an important place for students to learn and work. Intern can get practical ability in the actual work under the guidance of the instructor. Business knowledge in the learning ability, their ideological and moral qualities also need someone to manage. With the increase of college intern, we should set up a special department of the interns to conduct a comprehensive management in order for the country to cultivate comprehensive high-quality talent, including thoughts, life and discipline management. Mainly we can arrange to catch this work in schools and internships. Objectively, due to school enrollment, resulting in a relative weak faculty, and students during the internship, the ideological and political education will always run through their internship, which requires colleges and student internships intimate cooperate.

Schools should reach consistent understanding with internships. Schools sent students to internships, not only make students to complete the task, but also to assume the student teaching and educational work, which requires schools to assign teachers to the counseling unit. For internships, it should establish a sense of social responsibility, the internship students not only to learn the skills, theoretical knowledge to the technical ability to complete the transition, but also combined with the necessary social reality of students' ideological and political education. Therefore, this requires building a platform for ideological and political education between schools and internships, the intern group as a unit to study Marxism-Leninism, Mao Zedong Thought, Deng Xiaoping Theory and the scientific concept of development of theoretical knowledge on a regular basis. Asking students to assist school teachers and internship instructor collaboration management, requiring regular student interns head instructor for internships and university teachers reporting intern dynamics, including thinking, learning, and all aspects of life situations. Internships through the school teachers and co-instructor guidance, to enhance students' ideological and political consciousness, in order to encourage them to be able to leave school faster, better integrated into the socialist modernization to go.

4.3. Enhance the Close Connection with Effectiveness of Ideological and Political Education and Practical Issues of Intern

The practical problems which intern faced major including students' role in conflict and student employment. Role psychological is the important reason constraints inherent quality internship. We should understand the role of intern psychological characteristics in order to better improve the quality of practice, and promote the improvement of professional quality interns. Trainee is not a single determining role, but rather a complex, changing, integrated role cluster. Different roles have different requirements, different norms, different grades, responsibilities and rights and status, different experiences. In the process, both instructors led the students, but also the staff of the unit, or units of colleagues and friends, these multiple roles for them is sudden and complex, which makes intern at a loss. If the intern clear understands the roles and explicit role of cognitive awareness, there would be a corresponding role conflict behavior. In addition, as a college teacher and guidance, we should guide students to find employment orientation. Employment is of great concern to students, colleges and universities should improve the awareness of employment services for the interns.
