

On the Theoretical and Practical Significance of the Priority Development of Education

Hongli Han

Tianjin University of Commerce, Tianjin, 300134, China

Abstract: In the course of the rapid development of the world, mankind is facing more and more challenges and more and more complex. The increasingly fierce competition among countries in the world is, in the final analysis, a competition of the quality of each country's citizens. China to be in the process of the development of the society more powerful, we will always adhere to the priority to the development of education, continuously improve the level of knowledge of the Chinese people of all ethnic groups and the ideological and political level, culture and social development need people from all walks of life, realize the socialist modernization, let the people more satisfied with their life, happiness get improved.

Keywords: Education career; Marxism; Theoretical significance; Practical significance

1. Attach Importance to the Background of Educational Development

Since the founding of the People's Republic of China, China has always attached great importance to the development of education. In constant exploration and practice, China has continuously improved the related hardware facilities for running schools and the teaching ability of educators, cultivated talents from all walks of life in the construction of the motherland, and promoted the forward development of the society and economy. With the continuous progress of science and technology, many problems have been brought about. Of course, this is both a challenge to us and an opportunity to promote development. In the outline of China's education program, the working principle of "giving priority to development, educating people as the foundation, carrying out reform and innovation, promoting equity and improving quality" was clearly put forward. At the same time, education was identified as "one of the priorities of socialist modernization" and education was given top priority.

2. Giving Priority to the Development of Practical Activities in Education

First, we should increase investment in the development of education, to create a good teaching environment for students at all stages of the country, to provide a strong guarantee for the development of education, the development of various types of education, so that children of different ages, different characteristics can receive good education. For example, the development of special education, vocational education for them, pay attention to the development of their potential, strengthen psychological counseling, let them better integrate into the society, better employment through their skills, contribute to the social development. To provide students with abundant educational resources, all kinds of experimental equipment and teaching equipment, to ensure the development of teaching work, constantly upgrade the hardware facilities needed for education.

Second, to improve the innovation ability of the whole nation, education is the foundation for the rejuvenation of the nation and the progress of the whole society. The key to promoting the development of the whole society and economy is to continuously train talents who make contributions to the society. Combine Marxist educational theory with China's actual educational situation, formulate correct policies, implement effective measures, and improve the level of China's education. Training fields of high-tech talents, and strive to learn advanced technology and knowledge, assiduously, make high-tech talent training more industry leader, to master good skills to join the construction of the motherland, lead high quality talent team, overcome difficulties, work together and make contributions to the development of China's socialist modernization, improve in every field of our country's innovation ability, improve the international competitiveness of our country. Therefore, we should constantly increase the study of advanced knowledge and technology, improve the innovation ability of the whole nation, improve the educational level of our country, and enhance the influence of education.

Third, pay attention to the all-round training of educators. If we want to improve the quality of education, we should pay attention to the cultivation of educators. The quality and ability of the majority of educators are the key to good education. We should attach importance to the cultivation of political and scientific literacy of educators. We should not only cultivate a large number of teachers, but also pay attention to the quality of teachers and improve the educational level of educators. At the same time, we should improve the ideological and moral quality of educators and cultivate qualified educators who are beneficial to the people. Only in this way can we educate students with culture, ideals, morality and discipline. In the future career, by giving full play to their talents and skills, they can actively participate in the construction and development of socialist modernization, improve the development of our productive forces, promote the inheritance of our culture and promote the progress of the whole society.

Fourth, we should attach great importance to improving the quality of education, we should strengthen the improvement of teaching ability, find the existing problems in education, and implement accurate solutions according to specific problems. Teachers should seriously promote teaching reform, enhance students' participation in class, and improve their understanding ability. Participate in more social practice activities, apply the theoretical knowledge learned to practical activities, so that students can better grasp knowledge, master the truth. School not only should supervise and urge students improve academic performance, more should pay attention to enhance the level of the students' moral education, strengthen physical training, carry out aesthetic education, promote the all-round development of students, cultivate talents with innovation ability, also want to foster equity and justice, and selfless dedication, thanked the talented person, based on the cutting edge exemplary role model, called for the students' active learning. We should give priority to education, attach great importance to the training of educators, ensure the development of education, and reserve impetus for the sustainable development of society.

Fifth, we should encourage the whole society to support education, so that people can truly feel the importance of education. If education cannot be developed, the whole society will be short of workers from all walks of life, and the economic market will be without vitality and creativity, and the social development will stagnate. We will encourage and support competent and competent social forces to run education, develop private education, increase input, provide more educational opportunities and teaching facilities, meet the needs of the whole society, and contribute to the development of education and the cultivation of outstanding talents.

2.1. Theoretical significance: always adhere to the guidance of Marxism

In the process of the development of education, Marxism believes that the development of social productive forces must rely on the development of human beings. Only by constantly receiving education can human beings promote the development of society. We must always adhere to the guidance of Marxism, closely integrate the actual situation of China at all stages, and attach great importance to the development of education. Theory knowledge, of course, is the important foundation of developing education, but not from the actual situation of each stage, to learn marxist theory, should attaches great importance to the education of the whole social environment, more priority to the development of education cause must adhere to the principle of combining marxist theory with practice, found the problems existing in the society, actively explore to solve these problems, play to the education career to the positive role of social progress.

2.2. Practical significance: to improve the quality of the whole people and promote their all-round development

Marx and Engels in more than 100 years ago, and put forward the theory of man's all-round development, then mainly refers to the all-round development of mental labour and physical labour, and then on the basis of inheriting and developing Marxism, the development of education cause, proposed to promote the all-round development of people, here refers to the comprehensive development of morality, intelligence and physique, us, fatigue all aspects. In the new era of socialism with Chinese characteristics, more attention should be paid to the development of education, improve the moral quality, strengthen the learning culture knowledge, attach importance to people at various stages of learning, for pre-school education, compulsory education, higher education and on-the-job education, the cadre education, vocational education and so on, promote people's all-round development, social development needs of talent cultivation, meet the needs of socialist modernization with Chinese characteristics, in the development of all fields to be able to lead, to master all areas of the core technology, increase the ability of innovation in science and technology.

3. Conclusion

In a word, in the globalization tide of continuous social development, we should firmly give priority to the development of education, which is not only the theoretical requirement of inheriting and developing Marxism, but also the practical requirement of promoting social progress and all-round and free development of human beings. We must respect the power of human resources and science and technology, earnestly receive education and training, constantly improve our capacity for innovation, and contribute our share to the socialist modernization drive.

References

- [1] Gu mingyuan, Liu fuxing, Ed. New democratic education to socialist education (1921-2012). Education Science Press, 2015, 332.